Located at 101-105 Baltimore Street, the building stands flush with the sidewalk on the southeasterly corner at the intersection of Centre Street in the central business district of Cumberland, Allegany County.

The building is a late nineteenth century three story brick structure with three mid-twentieth century commercial fronts facing Baltimore Street. The upper levels have five bays along Baltimore Street (north side) and twelve bays along South Centre Street (west side) although there are only eleven bays on third story. The windows of the upper levels have double-hung wooden sashes, segmental arches, and ornate hoodmolds. Most of the second story windows have one-over-one lights (probably added much later) while those of the third floor have four-over-four lights. The building is crested with a dentiled cornice with a belt course (Probably of wood) about two feet below. Medallions spaced above the windows of the upper levels decorate the band between the cornice and the belt course. The shop fronts are faced with polished tile that extends along about three quarters of the Centre Street (west) side. The northwest corner of the upper levels is beveled with the plane, about a foot wide, recessed.

The building appears to be structurally sound.
